Write Your Life Stories

The ultimate workshop on how to write your life story with journalist, teacher, editor and publisher

Jo Parfitt

14 to 21 August 2021

Learn the secrets of writing your life's stories in Tuscany: brilliant teaching and exquisite Italy in one fantastic week.

You will stay in a beautiful historic watermill, set beside a river in a gentle valley in a National Park, with stylish air-conditioned bedrooms and public rooms in elegant buildings around the sunlit courtyard. You'll take leisurely breakfasts and mouth-watering evening meals in our courtyard dining room (and also dine out in nearby restaurants to sample traditional dishes and local wines). The mill's gardens, vine verandah, rose pergola, secluded millstream paths and riverside walks are all yours to enjoy.

Your tutor: Jo Parfitt

Jo Parfitt is an author, journalist, teacher, blogger, conference speaker and poet. She has published 32 books herself, has helped more than 250 authors get into print and more than 2,000 people to begin writing.

The Write Your Life Stories creative writing course is designed to help you produce your best work, to find your true

Jo says: "The course at the watermill will provide a safe haven in which to unlock your creativity, write from your heart and hone your writing craft. You will be empowered to write in a compelling way, bringing your experiences to life."

The workshop will include several methods and genres and is perfect for anyone wanting to write about their own lives for an effective journal, memoir or blog. If you would enjoy an injection of inspiration in a safe and supportive environment this course is for you. It is appropriate for students of any level. As well as its beautiful setting, its delicious food and its warm and welcoming hospitality, the Watermill is also Cool and Green! There is air-conditioning in all the bedrooms and public rooms, powered by a hidden array of photo-voltaic cells, which make us more than self-sufficient in electricity.
